Uganda president's coma report a hoax

Amin's plotters executed

KAMPALA, Uganda (AP) — Large crowds gathered on the outskirts of Kampala to watch the execution of 15 men condemned to death after Uganda's first public trial of suspected plotters against President Idi Amin.

The 15, including teachers, businessmen and former government officials, were lined up under the Queen's Clock Tower Friday afternoon and shot one-by-one by a firing squad.

Abroad, suspicion grew that reports of an operation on Amin and that he subsequently fell into a coma were a hoax, possibly to head off appeals for the lives of the condemned men.

Diplomats said Amin did not attend the executions, and Radio Uganda made no mention of his condition or his whereabouts in any of its broadcasts Friday.

Twelve of those executed were convicted last month of plotting to overthrow Amin in a coup allegedly timed for Jan. 25, the sixth anniversary of his accession to power. The other three were sentenced in July on charges of treason and murder.

Uganda's Military Defense Council ordered the 15 men to be shot and President Amin signed the execution papers on Tuesday, rejecting last-minute appeals for clemency from Liberian President William Tolbert.

Two hours after the executions, a Radio Uganda broadcast monitored in London said: "President-for-life Idi Amin has warned that anybody, be he a minister or high-ranking security officer or a civilian, who engages in subversive activities against Uganda is actually committing suicide."

Earlier Radio Uganda broadcasts monitored in Nairobi said 12 of the condemned men were convicted of plotting against Amin by a military tribunal in Kampala on Aug. 22.

It was the first time Amin staged a public trial of persons charged with plotting against him. The self-proclaimed president-for-life has reportedly survived at least 14 assassination attempts.

The alleged plotters included Lt. Ben Ogwang, a former intelligence officer; Y. Okoth, ex-chief inspector of schools; Abdalla Anyuru, former chairman of the Uganda public service commission; and Elias Okidimenya, former general manager of a bottling company.

Radio Uganda broadcasts Friday made no mention of reports that Amin was in a coma after undergoing surgery on his neck.

Uganda radio had reported Wednesday that Amin entered Kampala's Mulago Hospital for surgery by a Soviet physician. On Thursday, Robert Astles, a top aide to Amin, told The Associated Press by telephone that Amin was in a coma.

Since the 51-year-old former boxing champion seized power in Uganda 6½ years ago, he has been accused of systematically eliminating rival tribes that threatened his grip on the landlocked country.

A Geneva-based commission of jurists recently estimated that Amin's agents have killed up to 90,000 persons, and other estimates run as high as 300,000. Some 250,000 refugees have fled Uganda, and the country's economy has been reduced to shambles.

VICTORY SOUND — Joe Black, senior class president last year at Miami Trace High School, tests the school's new victory bell located on the football field. The 10-foot tower and bell were donated to the high school by Black and members of the 1977 graduating class at Miami Trace High School as the class gift. The pre-game test did fall upon deaf ears as the Miami Trace Panthers soundly defeated Delaware Hayes 84-14 in the season opener Friday night. It appears that the bell will be ringing quite frequently this season at Miami Trace.

Incident disclosed in Senate probe

Lance files locked in safe while seeking budget post

WASHINGTON (AP) — Files about federal examinations of Bert Lance's Georgia banks were locked in a government official's bathroom safe while Lance's nomination as budget director was being considered by the Senate.

The incident is disclosed in a 200-page report that draws no conclusions and was submitted to the Senate Governmental Affairs Committee Friday by the Internal Revenue Service.

The committee, which recommended Lance's confirmation in January, is now reviewing his financial affairs. Lance, under increasing pressure to resign, is scheduled to testify Thursday.

Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., the chairman, asked Comptroller of the Currency John G. Heimann to be ready to answer questions about the IRS report on Monday.

Robert G. Bloom, acting comptroller of the currency until Heimann took over in July, told IRS investigators he ordered files about the Calhoun First National Bank and the National Bank of Georgia stored in his office safe in December to avoid "leaks" of confidential information to the press.

The safe was in a bathroom closet. Bloom said he had the papers removed from the safe in March or April because "I thought that the press interest in Mr. Lance was over, a judgment that will probably go down in history as one of the worst ever made."

Lance's management of the two banks has been criticized by Heimann's office, although the comptroller found no violations of federal banking laws.

Bloom told the Senate committee in January he thought Lance well qualified to be budget director.

Release of the IRS report followed Heimann's second day of testimony before the committee. The comptroller was questioned about checks worth $193,000 written by Lance at the end of 1976, when his checking account held only $27,000.

Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., said he intends to ask Lance whether the checks, dated Dec. 31, "might have been back-dated and income tax deductions might have been improperly taken." A Lance spokesman denied that a wrong date was purposely written on the checks.

Heimann, who has been reluctant to elaborate on his two reports on Lance's affairs, said he would put that question differently if it were up to him.

"I would ask for proper cash flow to explain this happening," he said. "What does it mean? Where did the funds come from?"

The checks, drawn on one of Lance's Georgia banks, were made out to two

New York City banks to repay two loans. Interest on loans is deductible for income tax purposes.

The checks passed through the New York banks on Jan. 14 and 15.

Crash kills 2, hurts 21 at picnic for elderly

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — "We were just getting started and bringing out the food," Beverly Cook said about the picnic for residents of the Americana Healthcare Center. "Suddenly people were laying all over."

Without warning, a car driven by 81-year-old Leo M. Schulte of Indianapolis — who police say was soon to enter a nursing home himself — jumped a curb and plowed through the crowd of about 100 picnickers, many of whom were in wheelchairs.

Two were killed and 21 injured in the accident Friday.

The injured ranged in age from 47 to 93. At least 13 of them were more than 70 years old, eight of them in their 80s.

"I saw a car pulling up behind me," Schulte told reporters. "I jammed on my brakes to avoid hitting it. Then I put the car in forward. I thought I was hitting the brakes, but I must have hit the accelerator and that was it."

"Bodies, wheelchairs and food went in every direction. No one could move because most of the people were old and were in their wheelchairs," said Eunice Cope, a member of the Volunteers Association, which sponsored the picnic. Mrs. Cook is president of the group.

Leona Shrewsbury said Schulte backed against the side of her vehicle as he was driving out of a parking lot of a professional building adjacent to the nursing home. Police said Schulte had just had an appointment with an eye doctor at the building.

"The next thing I knew, I heard his tires squealing, and it looked like he panicked and drove right into the yard of people," she said. "He just plowed right into them. I felt kind of sick."

"He not only drove into the crowd, he backed into a second group of residents," said Fred Moon, administrator of the nursing home. "I guess he panicked. I know he pushed the pedal to the floor."

Schulte was released after questioning. Police Sgt. Alvin Dunkin said the case will be sent to a grand jury.

"The man was licensed to drive, although I don't know how," said Dunkin. "We were able to impound the car, but had to let him go. It's a sad thing. Schulte was going into a nursing home himself on Oct. 1."

Coulter convicted of 11 kidnappings

CINCINNATI (AP) — A 42-year-old man, inspired by a television drama to seek a son given up 20 years ago for adoption, was convicted today on 11 counts of kidnaping for his role in a seige at a home for unwed mothers.

Jesse Coulter, of Utica, Mich., was also convicted on four counts of felonious assault and one count of possession of a deadly weapon in connection with the 15-hour occupation at the Salvation Army's Catherine Booth Home in Cincinnati on Feb. 11.

The jury of nine women and three men reached the verdict after 13 hours of deliberations and one false start.

Jurors had reported a guilty verdict shortly after midnight, but when asked to individually affirm their decisions for conviction, one of them, Orein Stokes, said he had "reservations" about the guilty finding. They were ordered to continue deliberating until a unanimous vote was achieved.

On the jury's second report 90 minutes later, Stokes indicated he had no reservations about convicting Coulter.

Hamilton County Common Pleas Judge Thomas Nurre accepted the verdict and said Coulter's punishment would be set at a hearing Monday at 9 a.m. Coulter faces a prison sentence of from 15 years to life.

Coulter had pleaded innocent by reason of insanity. His lawyers argued that, after watching the dramatic series, "Root," Coulter took the hostages to force officials to reveal the whereabouts of the son he had placed for adoption there 20 years before.

Two defense psychiatrists testified that Coulter did not know right from wrong and was not responsible because he was insane.

Dr. Thomas M. Cassidy, clinical director of the Lima State Hospital for the criminally insane, said Coulter suffered from a manic depressive psychosis.

Dr. James Titchener, professor of psychiatry at the University of Cincinnati College of Medicine, said the mental condition was proved because Coulter responded to tablets of lithium carbonate. He said the chemical replaces salt missing from the brain of persons suffering the ailment. Another reaction occurs in persons without the ailment taking the medication.

Tests prove negative

Legion disease cleared in woman's death case

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State health officials have ruled out Legionnaires disease in the case of a 65-year-old woman who died this week at Riverside Methodist Hospital.

Authorities said tests on lung tissues taken from Lucille Craig of Cumberland proved negative and her cause of death now is considered to have been pneumonia.

There are five confirmed victims of Legionnaires disease in Columbus and tests are being performed to determine if another case is the mysterious malady.

Meanwhile, officials were investigating what was considered a remote possibility that construction at Riverside hospital may have stirred up the tiny bacterium that causes Legionnaires disease.

Dr. Thomas Halpin, chief of the state health department's Bureau of Communicable Diseases, said blood tests taken from 52 construction workers who finished work a week ago have been sent to the Center for Disease Control in Atlanta.

The suspected case was being treated at Ohio State University Hospital — the only local incidence reported so far outside Riverside. That case involves an unidentified kidney patient who contracted pneumonia, according to Jon Christensen, spokesman for the health department.

"Blood tests of one patient at Ohio State University Hospital have shown a high level of antibodies indicating that the patient had been previously exposed to Legionnaires disease," said Nancy Grover, a hospital spokeswoman. "Additional blood specimens on this patient have been sent to the Center for Disease Control for evaluation."

Symptoms of pneumonia and Legionnaires disease are similar, doctors say.

Carter assists New Jersey governor in re-election bid

WASHINGTON (AP) — With his own popularity slipping in recent polls, President Carter is offering his campaign coattails to New Jersey's Democratic Gov. Brendan Byrne, who faces an uphill fight for re-election.

Carter was flying to Newark and Trenton today for three quick appearances with Byrne, who last month acknowledged that an early poll showing him 10 points behind his Republican challenger, State Sen. Ray Bateman, was probably accurate.

After attending a Byrne fundraiser at Newark International Airport, Carter had a speaking date at a downtown rally, outside the state-supported New Jersey College of Medicine.

The trip was to climax with a visit to an annual Festival of Lights in Chambersburg, a predominantly Italian-American suburb of Trenton.

Byrne was an early Carter backer last year, but the governor's unpopular sponsorship of a state income tax took some of the glitter off his endorsement.

Carter lost New Jersey to former President Gerald R. Ford by 65,000 votes.

Ironically, Carter and Byrne made their only joint presidential campaign appearances in Trenton and Newark — and the governor was loudly booed. When Carter returned to the state, Byrne conveniently was away on business.

Governorships are up for grabs in only two states, both having voted for Ford last year.

In two weeks, Carter will go to Virginia, which he lost by 23,000 votes, to campaign for former Lt. Gov. Henry Howell, running against Republican John Dalton.

When Carter had Howell for lunch at the White House in June, Byrne supporters were concerned that their man might not get the same treatment.

Within a few weeks, however, Byrne too was dining in the Oval Office and left with the President's promise of campaign help.

But some New Jersey Democrats are speculating that Carter may still be staying at arm's length from Byrne by timing his visit almost two months ahead of the voting.

Pollster Louis Harris said this week the President's job rating with Americans dropped 7 per cent from July to August, with 44 per cent saying in the latest survey that they agree with the Carter's handling of the presidency.

Harris said the mid-month poll of 1,491 adults gave Carter a 40 per cent negative rating for his handling of the controversy surrounding his embattled budget director, Bert Lance. Some 30 per cent said they approved of the President's conduct of the matter while 27 per cent had no opinion.

Company projections show

Winter gas supply for DP&L customers boosted 9 per cent

DAYTON, Ohio — The total gas supply for Dayton Power and Light Co. customers during the coming 1977-1978 winter season will be 48 billion cubic feet, an increase of 4 billion cubic feet, or 9 per cent more gas than a year ago.

The announcement was made by Dwight L. Garber, vice president of services, gas and division operations.

A year ago, DP&L's projected gas supply for the 1976-1977 winter was 44 billion cubic feet. This year's projected supply for the 1977-1978 winter is 46 billion cubic feet, a 4.5 per cent increase.

In addition, DP&L said it was fortunate to lease storage space from the Northern Illinois Gas Co. for two billion cubic feet of gas which was not used from DP&L's summer allotment. This is a further increase of 4.5 per cent.

DP&L has possibilities of obtaining additional supplies of gas for the coming winter. The Columbia Transmission Corp. has contracted for additional limited term (two-year) purchases. If the Federal Power Commission approves the purchase, DP&L would receive an additional one half billion cubic feet of gas.

The company is also completing negotiations for 6 million cubic feet of gas per day from eastern Ohio well fields for a 2½ year period. Approval from the FPC is required for the transportation of eastern Ohio interstate gas through interstate lines. If approved, this gas could be received by DP&L this winter, the company said.

Assuming that all gas customers continue to conserve gas wherever possible and should the weather this winter be as cold as last winter, industrial boiler customers with alternate fuel capability will be allowed to use 37 per cent of their gas allotment based on 1972 usage. All other customers will be allowed to use up to 100 per cent of their gas allotment based on their 1972 usage.

Conditions which could affect the above and subsequent allowable usage are:

- The weather being colder or warmer than last winter;
- Customers changing their conservation or usage levels of last fall; and
- An increase or decrease in DP&L's winter period supply.

Fires cause $30,000 in damage

Nearly $30,000 in damages resulted from fires in Washington C.H. during the months of July and August, according to monthly reports released by Washington C.H. Fire Department officials.

Assistant Fire Chief John Rockhold reported the majority of the dollar losses occurred during July. A total average of slightly over 11 regular and volunteer firefighters per run responded to 20 fires and 15 other "hazardous" emergency calls, according to the assistant chief. Those emergency runs consisted of: building, vehicle, trash and grass fires; gas leaks and spills; downed power lines; and electrical shorts, which caused an estimated $25,800 in damages in the city.

Of the actual fire situations, firemen snuffed nine vehicle fires, nine structure fires and two trash or grass fires in July. They also responded to 10 reports of electrical arcing or shorts, three gas leaks or spills and one downed power line, Rockhold reported. Also contributing to the 32.12 engine hours on emergency runs were eight alarm system malfunctions, four false alarms (described as "malicious"), a mutual aid call, a carbon monoxide check, an inhalator call and an emergency medical call.

In August, Rockhold stated, five vehicle fires, five building fires, four gas leaks and spills and four electrical arcing and shorts resulted in $3,965 damage to property in Washington C.H. Those runs required a total average of just less than 7 regular and volunteer firemen per fire.

In the 18.37 hours the department's engines worked, firefighters also responded to: four smoke scares; three carbon monoxide checks; two smoke removals; an inhalator call; one animal rescue; one system malfunction; and one malicious false alarm. In addition, they installed a flag pole rope and participated in Fayette County Memorial Hospital's mock disaster drill.

Rockhold reported almost $2,000 in damages resulted from fires during the two summer months outside within Union Township, but outside Washington C.H. Again, July accounted for the most dollar losses with two vehicle fires, two building fires, a trash or grass fire and an electrical short causing $1,300 in losses. August damages totaled $660 in Union Township, which resulted from two vehicle fires, one structure fire and one electrical short.

The hours of engine work for July's emergency runs totaled 3.33. August hours were 2.78. An average of 11.22 firefighters, regular and volunteer, responded per run in the township during July and an average of 9.6 in August.

The assistant chief reported four residents suffered injuries from fire and emergency situations in July and only one civilian was injured in August. No firefighters were injured during either month.

Traffic Court

A local resident was found guilty Friday of driving while intoxicated and was sentenced to three days in the city jail in Washington C.H. Municipal Court.

Burgess E. Rose, 51, of 1223 S. Hinde St., in addition to the jail term, received a $200-fine, plus costs for the offense. Judge John P. Case also suspended Rose's driver's license for 90 days, but gave him permission to drive to and from work and his doctor's office and hospital providing he prove purchase of high risk insurance.

Rose was cited last Wednesday by Washington C.H. police officers. Several waivers for speeding citations issued by Ohio Highway Patrol officers were also signed during court proceedings Friday. Those paying fines and costs were: Howard Cox, 38, Columbus, $35; Robert G. Campana, 24, Steubenville, $30; Charles A. Warner, 68, Bloomingburg, $30; Richard C. Dixon, 35, Dayton, $35; Ulysses S. Arrasmith, 40, of Melbourne, Ky., $30; and Frances Steiger, 53, Springfield, $30.

Gun theft report probed by police

Washington C.H. police officers reported a number of guns and gun cases were stolen from a garage on Damon Drive Wednesday night.

William E. Copas, 46, of 636 Damon Drive, told investigating officers Thursday morning that an unknown person or persons entered his unlocked garage and took seven guns from a gun case and four gun carrying cases. The theft occurred sometime after 7 Wednesday night, according to the police department report.

Types and descriptions of the weapons were not reported, but Copas listed their total value at approximately $535.

Police specialists are currently conducting an investigation into the theft.

Driver cited in rural crash

A car sustained severe damage when it collided with a single-body truck on U.S. 22 at Cline Road Friday morning, Fayette County sheriff's deputies reported.

The car's driver, 19-year-old Brian D. Hulse, Circleville, was cited by sheriff's deputies after he drove left of center on U.S. 22 to pass the slow moving truck, which was in the process of turning left onto Cline Road. Sheriff's deputies reported the youth's eastbound car struck the truck in the left front more than 12 feet over the center line in the westbound lane. The accident occurred about 8 Friday morning.

According to the sheriff's report, neither Hulse nor the truck driver, Christopher T. Garland, 18, of 362 Bunker Hill-Glendon Road, suffered injuries. The truck, which was towing farm wagons with slow-moving-vehicle signs, received only minor damage.

Washington C.H. police officers reported a two-car collision Friday morning at the intersection of Yeoman and Worley streets.

Gregg A. Gilmore, 17, of 1352 Nelson Place, reportedly told police officers he had slowed his car to turn left onto Worley Street from the westbound lane of Yeoman Street when another vehicle pulled onto Yeoman Street and struck his car. Police officers cited the other driver, Linda K. Ankrom, 17, 613 Warren Ave., for failure to yield.

Gilmore's vehicle received moderate damage in the 8:24 a.m. collision, while Miss Ankrom's car was only slightly damaged, according to the police department report. Neither driver was injured.

City fire report probed

A lightning bolt is believed to be the possible cause of smoldering structure fire early Saturday morning at a Water Street residence, according to Washington C.H. Fire Department reports.

Fire officials reported an estimated $200 damage was done to a fuse box and electrical wiring at 111 Water St. Firemen received the call about 1:15 a.m. from the residence's occupant, Dwight E. Bandy.

According to the report, the lightning caused the fuse panel to overload burning the rubber insulation on the

The rental home is owned by Barbara Smith of 2839 Staunton-Sugar Grove Road.

Firemen were also called to the scene of a vehicle fire Friday evening at S. Elm Street and Washington Square.

When they arrived on the scene, firefighters were reportedly told by witnesses that the vehicle's owner had extinguished the fire with dry chemicals and left the area in another vehicle. The incident occurred around 5:45 Friday evening.

Federal judge ponders supper club fire suits

COVINGTON, Ky. (AP) — A federal court judge has expressed concern about how he can protect the rights of all persons who are involved in the growing litigation stemming from the May 28 fire at Beverly Hills Supper Club.

U.S. District Court Judge Carl B. Rubin took under advisement Friday a motion to have all next of kin, heirs and personal representatives of victims of the fire represented in the action.

The federal judge wondered how he could deal fairly with individual lawsuits since there would presumably be only a limited amount of money available if damages were to be paid.

"The essential question is how can I deal fairly with everybody's clients and make sure that funds are not exhausted by the race to the courthouse?" Rubin asked.

"How do we protect the individual when we have reason to believe that only a limited amount of funds are going to be available?"

Total damages sought in suits growing out of the fire which killed 164 persons exceed $1.3 billion.

Meanwhile, at the hearing attended by about two-dozen attorneys, Rubin denied a request which critics claim could have prevented the presentation of a report and testimony by Gov. Julian Carroll at an upcoming congressional hearing on the Beverly Hills fire.

Rubin said it was "almost inconceivable" that he should interfere with a scheduled appearance by Carroll at the hearing in Cincinnati Sept. 19.

Attorneys for the 4-R Corp., owners of the supper club, had argued that no one connected with the litigation or their counsels, or any person employed or retained after May 28, should make any statements out-of-court concerning the case.

The state of Kentucky has been named as a defendant in many of the suits which have been filed as the result of the fire which killed 164 persons.

The request had also asked that results of investigations into the fire conducted by public officials not be placed on the public record.

Attorney Ralph Mitchell charged that there had already been considerable publicity on the contents of the state's investigative report on the fire even before its release.

The report is scheduled to be officially released the day of the congressional hearing.

Social Security overhaul proposal encounters snap

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Republican plan to revamp Social Security has run into quick opposition, with criticism centering on a proposal that would ultimately mean most Americans could not retire with full benefits until age 68.

Republican leaders say they will mount a concerted drive for their package, which would also allow retirees to work without sacrificing retirement benefits, when a House Ways and Means subcommittee begins on Monday tackling the problem of keeping the huge retirement system solvent.

The Democratic chairman of that committee and the secretary of Health, Education and Welfare sharply attacked the proposal, which was announced Friday.

The Republican plan would begin raising the retirement age from 65 in 1990, reaching 68 by 2001. People retiring early would have their checks reduced.

Rep. Al Ullman, D-Ore., chairman of the Ways and Means committee, said his panel is more concerned with what happens to the system in the next five years.

Without legislation to bail out Social Security, the disability retirement fund is projected to be bankrupt in two years, with all old-age aid ending by 1983.

The committee wants to find ways to avoid depleting Social Security reserves to gain time, Ullman said, to consider more fundamental changes in the system.

He said the committee may recommend tax increases or allowing the Social Security Administration to move money between its various programs as needs arise.

The Republicans included such a proposal in their plan.

Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Joseph A. Califano Jr. charged that the Republican proposal "shatters the solemn promise of the federal government to the American people."

House Republican Leader John J. Rhodes of Arizona said the proposal to extend the retirement age, coupled with the lifting of earnings restrictions, is consistent with the desire of many Americans to remain productive.

The plan would lower payments 5 per cent overall, while raising the tax rate paid by employers and employees 0.5 per cent beginning in 1982.

Persian Gulf to receive oil reserve protection

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Persian Gulf, especially Iran, is receiving new importance in U.S. planning to protect its rich oil reserves from "foreign aggression," U.S. officials say.

President Carter issued a secret directive late last month expanding U.S. strategic priorities to include defending the Persian Gulf against any Soviet attack.

The memorandum, which followed a six-month study by the National Security Council, was sent to the Pentagon.

The United States now receives more than 40 per cent of its oil from the Middle East, and that dependency is expected to continue in the near future.

In recent years, the Soviet Union has become a net importer of oil. A study by the Central Intelligence Agency, released last April, said Moscow could begin competing with the United States for Middle East oil in the next decade.

The CIA report said: "During the next decade, the USSR may well find itself not only unable to supply oil to Eastern Europe and the West on the present scale, but also having to compete for OPEC oil for its own use."

Carter's policy directive appeared to be an effort to begin preparing for any Soviet attack on Iran or the Middle East.

The United States already is committed to the security of Israel and has special relationships with Iran and Saudi Arabia. Both nations have conservative governments that could become vulnerable if conflict arises in that area.

Suggestions that the memorandum conflicted with Carter's public proposal to eliminate great-power military forces from the Indian Ocean were vigorously disputed by U.S. officials.

These officials said contingency plans that outline the possible use of ground forces, supported by air and naval units, in the Persian Gulf or Middle East do not contradict administration policy.

Sabina telephone project finished

SABINA — A major cable addition has been placed into service in the Sabina exchange, the General Telephone Co. of Ohio announced today.

Thomas R. O'Neil of Wilmington, company customer service manager, said the $22,800 addition, which serves the northern portion of the exchange, was designed to upgrade present service and provide for future growth in the area. Portions of the new cable replaced existing facilities for maintenance reasons.

More than 28,000 feet of cable was used to complete the project. Where possible the cable was buried.

Hunt, Liddy only wanted me to hallucinate

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — The muck-racker wants to be liked. He pictures himself not as a resented troublemaker but as an affable, benevolent figure, an instrument of civic betterment. He assumes that even his victims recognize that he is just doing his job and that his job has something to do with the larger welfare.

Moreover, the most abrasive reporter is apt to be, in his personal life, a thin-skinned fellow, terribly sensitive, easily desolated by the slightest criticism of himself or his work. And so it has been that under several administrations, reporters for this column have cavorted nonchalantly through private files and public reputations, confident that our altruism was generally recognized.

It came as a bit of a shock, therefore, to hear that the incomprehensible Watergate pair, E. Howard Hunt and G. Gordon Liddy, had plotted my liquidation. Hunt hastened to explain that they did not intend to do me in but merely to cause my irredeemable public disgrace.

We have now obtained evidence that Hunt's version, apparently, is quite correct. He had in mind nothing so base as putting out my lights forever; all he sought to do was make me an involuntary subject of the CIA's MK ULTRA-DELTA research. This was the secret behavior-altering program that sent the unfortunate Dr. Frank Olson diving to his death through a New York City hotel window.

Hunt got his motivation, whether by osmosis or otherwise, from Richard Nixon who used the formidable resources of the federal government to discredit us. Ex-White House aide Charles Colson has testified that he was asked "many times" by President Nixon to take action "to discredit Jack Anderson."

To this end, the CIA assigned 18 radio cars to keep us under surveillance. The Pentagon, according to its former security chief, W. Donald Stewart, conducted at least 11 separate investigations of us, sparing no expense. The FBI secretly grabbed our telephone records, and the Internal Revenue Service conducted a penetrating, year-long audit of my finances.

This should have been intimation enough that someone in the White House didn't like us, but we never dreamed our popularity had fallen so low that two White House heavies would seek exotic CIA poisons to use against us. The full details are worth relating, as a footnote to the history of the Nixon era.

Even in the balmy days before

Watergate, we later learned, the irrepressible Liddy, revolver at the ready, had prepared to do a "wipeout number" on me. Chance intervened, and Liddy was persuaded that the hit order had been a misunderstanding.

I recall being a bit unnerved over Liddy's assumption that my elimination was a self-evident desideratum that would add to the sum of human happiness. But the plotting against me became less personal until Hunt blew in with a plan.

As Charles Colson remembered it, Hunt came to his office with "some hare-brained schemes, something to do with drugging Jack Anderson." As Hunt remembered it, Colson was the instigator. He called Hunt, told him I was "a great thorn in the side of the president" and asked Hunt to find a means to discredit me.

Hunt, unfailingly empathetic with the seemier necessities of statecraft, assumed that Colson "was reflecting the desires of the chief executive" or that, as a prescient staff officer, was attempting to find a solution to a problem that was troubling his chief.

As at other times of national emergency, this was the signal for Hunt to call Liddy. Together they called on a former CIA physician, Dr. Edward Gunn, who, Hunt said, "had some knowledge of the unorthodox administration of behavior-changing or altering substances."

Dr. Gunn later testified about the Hunt-Liddy meeting: "I was asked if I could help them provide hallucinating medications to an individual."

The purpose, Hunt explained, was "to find out something about hallucinogenic drugs and their applications to a particular individual, in this instance Jack Anderson."

In the end, the project was dropped, but press reports told of a plot to "assassinate syndicated columnist Jack Anderson." The plan involved "use of a poison to be obtained from a former CIA physician" which "would leave no trace during a medical examination or autopsy."

There were hard-to-dismiss words — "assassinate," "poison," "autopsy" — which hung in the mind, causing me to feel coolly toward Hunt and Liddy. We meanwhile, continued to make our furtive rounds of file cabinets, but with a more uneasy step.

Now CIA disclosures of its mind-altering experiments tend to vindicate Hunt's claim that he meant me no worse than that I hallucinate while driving to the TV studio, there to make an all-time idiot of myself.

We occasionally wonder whether, en route, the subject might have driven off the bridge or like Dr. Frank Olson jumped out a window. We are sure that Hunt would answer: "Unavoidable minimal risks are involved in the service of principalities."

Still, it puts a better face on the business. Our old insouciance has already returned, and we feel a lot kinder toward those gallant buffoons who have so enlivened this decade.

Kent campus wedding site

KENT, Ohio (AP) — A Niles couple who had planned to get married a month from now was wed instead on the Kent State University campus early Friday because they feared construction of a gym might soon "desecrate" the area near the site of the 1970 shootings.

Jack Hartford, 22, and Mary Frances Bertolini, 18, said they were on their way to Niagara Falls for a "pre-wedding honeymoon" when they heard about the decision of U.S. Supreme Court Justice William J. Brennan lifting a temporary ban on construction of the controversial gym.

The marriage ceremony was on such short notice that the couple didn't have time to get a marriage license. "But this was the real thing," Hartford said after the Rev. Richard Terrass of the Universal Church Inc. pronounced them man and wife. "It was done under the law of the people."

The couple supports the May 4th Coalition, the group which has staged mass arrests and has gone to court to stop construction of the gym on the Blanket Hill area. Another temporary restraining order, this one by the 6th

U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati, has since halted construction again.

Hartford said he met his wife on the site July 28. "I remember because I was arrested the next day for walking on it," he said.

"We hadn't planned on getting married for about a month," he explained, "but when we heard that (Brennan's decision), we decided we'd better get back and do it before the hill was desecrated any more than it already has been."

The marriage was performed outside the fenced-in construction compound before 50 coalition members. Also attending were the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mario Bertolini of Niles. A flutist played the bridal march and then two guitarists accompanied the best man as he sang "Danny Boy."

The Rev. Mr. Terrass read a wedding poem and then the bride and groom each read marriage vows they had written.

The couple said they would return to the Blanket Hill site for further demonstrations against the gym.

Butler County nixes railroad tax money

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — The Butler County Budget Commission has rejected a partial payment on the nearly half-million dollars in taxes owed by the Penn Central Railroad.

The bankrupt railroad owes a total of $532,688.15 on 27 accounts of various taxing units within Butler County.

County Auditor James Tilton argued that the county and its various taxing units should hold out for 100 per cent payment.

A mail order electric?

The prospect of a gasoline shortage not far down the line continues to stimulate interest in an electric car. A lot of research and experimentation is going on, especially efforts to develop lightweight batteries that will hold a charge longer.

It is of interest that the big mail order house, Sears, Roebuck & Co., may beat Detroit to the punch with a commercial model. Its electric car, first conceived of as a gimmick for promoting a line of Sears automobile batteries, has done so well that the firm is thinking of putting it on sale in its stores.

The prototype, a modified Fiat 128 coupe, reportedly operates at a cost of a cent to a cent and a half a mile for electricity. It was clocked at an average speed of 64.7 miles an hour on a 2.5-mile run, and has gotten up to 75. It does 60 to 90 miles on a charge. It has drawbacks, like others of the breed - but the electricians plainly are coming closer to feasibility for regular operation. If Sears markets one, probably others won't be far behind.

A program for epilepsy

Some two million Americans suffer from epilepsy. It is a disease which by its nature demands an exceptional response from society, since the victims may at any time have convulsions lapsing into unconsciousness. Yet the United States is badly lagging in this respect. Only nine states have centralized programs for educating and treating epileptics. That is a deplorable shortcoming - one the federal Commission for the Control of Epilepsy and its Consequences proposes to remedy by creating a nationwide Comprehensive Epilepsy Service Network. This would serve to mobilize resources to help those suffering from this disease: medical and social services, and help in getting jobs.

The need for some such program is undeniable. Among other things, it could be expected to generate understanding, the need for which is underscored in this comment by the Commission's executive director, Richard L. Masland: "Ignorance, superstition, and misconceptions about the disorder at every level of our society continue to plague the person with epilepsy."

It is noteworthy that each year about 100,000 Americans develop this ailment, many as the result of head injuries - and most of those from traffic accidents. We are all vulnerable. That can be added to humane considerations which argue for a major effort to deal with epilepsy in a comprehensive way.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

What kind of day will tomorrow be? To find out what the stars say, read the forecast given for your birth Sign.

SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 11

ARIES

(Mar. 21 to Apr. 20)

Independence of thought and action should be stressed now. But don't arbitrarily reject unusual ideas. A fresh viewpoint could give your efforts better direction.

TAURUS

(Apr. 21 to May 21)

Though yours is not usually a passive nature, you COULD place yourself behind the front lines through modesty. A bit of self-promotion wouldn't hurt a bit.

GEMINI

(May 22 to June 21)

Wide horizons are your dimension. But don't do as the Geminiian so often does - begins with brilliance, then lose interest. Masterful strokes can be yours now, if you'll just stick to your projects.

CANCER

(June 22 to July 23)

Group activity highly favored. Stars indicate this is the time for you to make some exciting new contacts.

LEO

(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Personal relationships governed by beneficent influences. A day in which you can successfully combine business and pleasure.

VIRGO

(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Some complicated situations now call for careful discussion, mediation between opposing parties, a shift in positions. Handle all with your innate foresight and discretion.

LIBRA

(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Make allowances for the errors of others to insure easier cooperation from family, friends, associates. Don't let impatience get the better of you.

SCORPIO

(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Mixed planetary influences. You may be uncertain as to how to proceed at times. But take time to think things out. Haste or impulsiveness could further complicate situations.

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

This could be a day of great personal achievement. Aim to attain goals you have set for yourself, but don't expect the unreasonable.

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

This day may be a challenge to your adaptability. Throw in your lot with those who oppose you, if there is no other way to achieve your ends.

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

You may soon have to engage in a battle of wits. Investigate, to be sure you have all the facts. To face an opponent unprepared would be folly.

PISCES

(Feb. 20 to Mar. 20)

You will face improving conditions in some areas, aggravating complexities elsewhere. Knowing what to do and say at the appropriate moment will be your key to handling all situations. Think!

YOU BORN TODAY are a highly affable individual who makes many friends in life - and keeps them. You have a delightful sense of humor and are insatiable in your quest for knowledge. Endowed with a gift for words, you would make an outstanding writer. Brilliant in argument and debate, you could also excel as a lawyer or statesman. Unlike many Virgoans, you may not care for business as a career but, if forced into it by circumstances, could make a good go of it through your persistence, patience and willingness to work hard at anything you undertake. You are very exacting - with yourself and others. Try to curb a tendency toward censoriousness and disillusionment when others do not live up to your lofty ideals.

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 12

ARIES

(March 21 to April 20)

Give special attention to statements which seem to sway you considerably. Look deep for real meanings; do not settle for anything which even hints at the dubious.

TAURUS

(Apr. 21 to May 21)

Keep personal affairs separate from business activities and you will be less bothered by dispute, turmoil.

GEMINI

(May 22 to June 21)

You will now have a chance to display your ingenuity: Accept the invitation to stride forward with new vigor. Don't let little annoyances provoke.

CANCER

(June 22 to July 23)

Fine lunar influences. Plan your course of action early. Your perception is acute, so be prepared to use gainful ideas to your advantage.

LEO

(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Look for trends early. Things may not be as you expected last week. Some situations are changing obviously, others subtly. Be careful to avoid errors.

VIRGO

(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Dedication to obligations will pay big dividends - especially when you have resisted the temptation to veer off. Inventiveness, originality stimulated.

LIBRA

(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Much competition and impulsiveness. Make no hasty decisions and curb spending. Be especially careful to study your budget if making travel plans.

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

Your stock goes up now. High praise - and commensurate reward - indicated for job matters well handled.

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Avoid present tendencies to scatter energies and to start too many things at one time. Neither enter into new activities without thorough investigation.

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Personal relationships under excellent aspects. You can now combine business and pleasure to practical advantage.

PISCES

(Feb. 20 to Mar. 20)

Review winning methods of the past. Use again, with added flair, enthusiasm. Some "inside information" will prove extremely useful.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with fine intellect, great versatility and lofty ambitions. You like people and get along with most but are adamant in your likes and dislikes; unyielding in your beliefs and principles. With your many talents, there is a wide variety of fields in which you could succeed career-wise, but notably in literature and the theatre. You are also attracted to mechanics and have a flair for invention; would make a brilliant lawyer or statesman or, if you learn to curb your tendency to be overexacting with those under your supervision, would make an outstanding teacher. Secrets are always safe with you, so you would be a stand-out as a confidential secretary.

Flynt free on bond after receiving wish in Atlanta

ATLANTA (AP) — Publisher Larry Flynt was free on $25,000 bond today after he got his wish when authorities arrested him Friday for distributing his magazines, Hustler and Chic.

Flynt, who came to Atlanta Thursday saying he wanted to test Atlanta's obscenity laws, was charged with one count of selling obscene materials and one count of distributing obscene materials in Fulton County. He also was charged with one count of distributing obscene materials in nearby Gwinnett County.

"The only thing this arrest accomplished was to point out how antiquated the obscenity laws are," Flynt said. "I don't think the government has any business legislating morality."

The Columbus, Ohio, publisher had stood for two days behind the cash register of a downtown Atlanta bookstore which he said he leased in hopes of being arrested by Fulton County Solicitor General Hinson McAuliffe, who has led a campaign against smut peddlers.

Flynt said McAuliffe's recent arrests of several magazine sellers interfered with freedom of choice, intimidated dealers and cut into sales of his magazines in metropolitan Atlanta.

Flynt waited in vain for about three hours Thursday and left about 11:30 a.m. Friday after McAuliffe failed to appear.

A short time later, Atlanta police arrested him outside the Hyatt Regency Hotel where he was staying.

"I thought it would be less confusing to arrest him at the hotel than at the bookstore," said Atlanta police detective B.L. Neikirk.

McAuliffe could not be reached for comment.

Flynt, who predicted he will be convicted on the charges, also is free on bond pending appeal of an obscenity conviction in Ohio.

The Fulton County charges mention Flynt's magazines, Hustler and Chic. The Gwinnett County charge stems from the July 20 arrest of a store operator accused of selling Hustler.

Burger concludes visit with Soviets

MOSCOW (AP) — U.S. Chief Justice Warren Burger ended a 10-day visit to the Soviet Union by meeting with Soviet President Leonid I. Brezhnev.

According to Western diplomats, some of whom were at the meeting Friday, Brezhnev engaged in "primarily a monologue" lecturing Burger on the international arms issue.

Burger, who noted he had nothing to do with foreign policy matters, replied that Americans were just as concerned about world peace as the Soviets, the sources said.

Aside from meeting with Soviet judges during his trip, Burger also got a rare tour of a Soviet prison camp for juveniles that a U.S. official accompanying the chief justice described as a "strict regime" facility for serious offenders.

Mrs. Mondale opens orchestra's season

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Joan Mondale opened the 75th season of the Minnesota Orchestra, saying she hopes the federal government will recognize the need to increase financial support for the arts.

The wife of Vice President Walter F. Mondale told some 2,000 people at the concert Friday that "support of the arts is a governmental responsibility."

Ohio Perspective

Solon plans to curb private airport noise

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Cuyahoga County lawmaker wants regional airports that cater to private planes to shut down during early morning hours if they are near densely populated areas.

Specifically, Rep. Virginia Aveni, D-17 Lyndhurst, plans to introduce a bill when the legislature returns later this month "to eliminate the severe nuisance and hazard problems we have been having with the Cuyahoga County Airport."

Miss Aveni's proposal, if enacted, would halt take-offs and arrivals between 11:30 p.m. and 6:30 a.m. on runways located within three miles of cities where more than 1,800 people live per square mile.

"My constituents and those in the surrounding House districts are sick and tired of living with the constant din of airplanes," she says.

Miss Aveni did not intend to challenge the hours of large commercial airports, such as Cleveland Hopkins International. Trouble is, her bill as currently written would apply to Hopkins, an unrealistic target when you consider that the New York State legislature and the Borough of Queens were unsuccessful in attempting to stop one plane, the Concorde, from landing at John F. Kennedy Airport.

Miss Aveni said her bill would be amended in committee to exempt big commercial airports.

"I hope it will be seriously considered," she said of the bill. "I am serious about it."

Democrats are more than willing to concede that you can't please everybody when drawing a congressional district map.

The latest proposal, under consideration in the House Government Affairs Committee, is supposed to benefit Democrats, but a number are opposed to it.

A proponent, Rep. Michael Del Bane, D-56 Hubbard, chairman of the House committee, interrupted opposition testimony earlier this week to try to put the matter in perspective.

"Hold it, honey," he told a disgruntled Democrat from Stark County. "We all can't have our congressmen at the back door or across the street from us."

Del Bane, who lives in suburban Youngstown, said his congressman lived 90 miles away, while a U.S. representative in an adjacent district was only about 10 miles from his residence.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Teen drivers:

a ghostly warning

DEAR ABBY: Last summer you wrote something that virtually saved my life and maybe the lives of many others. I had just gotten my driver's license and that column really opened my eyes. I think about it every time I turn on the ignition in my car.

I am enclosing it. Please run it again. And run it every year for those kids who may have missed it.

LOVES LIFE AT 18

DEAR LOVES: Seldom has a column made such an impact as the one to which you refer. I shall repeat it with pleasure:

PLEASE GOD, I'M ONLY 17!

The day I died was an ordinary school day. How I wish I had taken the bus! But I was too cool for the bus. I remember how I wheeled the car out of Mom. "Special favor," I pleaded, "All the kids drive." When the 2:50 bell rang, I threw all my books in the locker. I was free until 8:40 tomorrow morning! I ran to the parking lot, excited at the thought of driving a car and being my own boss. Free!

It doesn't matter how the accident happen. I was goofing off-going too fast. Taking crazy chances. But I was enjoying my freedom and having fun. The last thing I remember was passing an old lady who seemed to be going awfully slow. I heard the deafening crash and felt a terrific jolt. Glass and steel flew everywhere. My whole body seemed to be turned inside out. I heard myself scream.

Suddenly I awakened; it was very quiet. A police officer was standing over me. Then I saw a doctor. My body was mangled, I was saturated with blood. Pieces of jagged glass were sticking out all over. Strange that I couldn't feel anything.

Hey, don't pull that sheet over my head. I can't be dead. I'm only 17. I've got a date tonight. I am supposed to grow up and have a wonderful life. I haven't lived yet. I can't be dead.

Later I was placed in a drawer. My folks had to identify me. Why did they have to see me like this? Why did I have to look at Mom's eyes when she faced the most terrible ordeal of her life? Dad suddenly looked like an old man. He told the man in charge, "Yes, he is my son."

The funeral was a weird experience. I saw all my relatives and friends walk toward the casket. They passed by, one by one, and looked at me with the saddest eyes I've ever seen. Some of my buddies were crying. A few of the girls touched my hand and sobbed as they walked away.

Please... somebody... wake me up! Get me out of here. I can't bear to see my Mom and Dad so broken up. My grandparents are so racked with grief they can barely walk. My brother and sisters are like zombies. They move like robots. In a daze, everybody! No one can believe this. And I can't believe it, either.

Please don't bury me! I'm not dead! I have a lot of living to do! I want to sing and dance. Please don't put me in the ground. I promise if you give me just one more chance, God, I'll be the most careful driver in the whole world. All I want is one more chance.

Please, God, I'm only 17!

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Saturday, September 10th, the 253rd day of 1977. There are 112 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1813, an American naval force under Oliver Perry defeated the British in the battle of Lake Erie in the War of 1812.

On this date:

In 1608, John Smith was elected governor of the Jamestown colony of Virginia.

In 1846, Elias Howe of Spencer, Mass., received a patent on his sewing machine.

In 1898, Empress Elizabeth of Austria-Hungary was assassinated by an anarchist in Geneva.

Corn loan rate increased

In a move designed to help in the severe cost-price squeeze now adversely affecting many farmers, the loan rate for 1977 corn is being increased immediately, according to Ottis R. Smith, chairman of the Fayette County ASC Committee.

In Fayette County it has been increased 25 cents to $2.05 per bushel, while the national corn loan rate is being raised from $1.75 to $2 with other feed grains set in proper relationship to corn.

This change, which is being done under existing statutory authority, is consistent with recent Congressional actions and will return the loan rate for feed grains to its appropriate relationship to the loan rate for wheat. The 1977 wheat loan level of $2.25 per bushel will remain unchanged.

In the case of a loan, the farmer offers his grain as security and receives a monetary advance of $2.05 per bushel. The current interest rate is six per cent for an 11-month period, Smith explained.

When the loan matures, the farmer must decide either to pay off the loan plus interest or deliver it to the government — with no interest charge.

Smith also explained that a Commodity Credit Corp. grain loan is just one of two marketing options that will be available to county farmers this fall.

The other option available is a purchase agreement which is another means of keeping 1977 corn off the market until prices improve.

By signing the agreement for their corn crop, farmers can guarantee that they will receive the $2.05 per bushel support price for corn. The agreement gives the farmer the option to deliver grain to the Commodity Credit Corp. if market prices are low, and it assures him of receiving no less than the $2.05 per bushel announced for the 1977 corn crop.

The farmer is not obligated prior to the maturity date of the agreement. He is free to sell his corn at anytime, and he has no loan to pay off. The county committeeman explained that both marketing options — purchase agreements and Commodity Credit Corp. loans — are means of supporting the price of the 1977 corn crop.

Smith suggested that farmers complete purchase agreements as soon as each bin or crib is filled so they will be sure these bins are empty prior to their 1978 harvest.

Landmark officials attend annual stockholders meet

Norman Schiering, president, Wayne Hidy, director, and Robert Lawrence, manager of Fayette Landmark, Inc., recently returned from Louisville, Ky., where they attended the annual stockholders conference of the Louisville Bank for Cooperatives, Sept. 6.

Fayette Landmark, Inc., which serves the farm supply and grain marketing needs of farmers in Fayette County, is a member-borrower of the Louisville bank, which serves the credit needs of farmer cooperatives in Indiana, Kentucky, Ohio and Tennessee.

Fayette County and the Farm Credit System, work to assist agriculture to remain viable and productive as a world food source.

The Louisville Bank for Cooperatives serves more than 350 farmer cooperatives across the four states with credit and credit related services.

Currently the Louisville Bank for Cooperatives has a loan volume outstanding of $450 million to member-borrowers located in the four states served by the Bank.

Econogram

Signs indicate slow down in economy

The composite economic indicators index declined 0.2 per cent for July and new factory orders declined 3 per cent flashing signals of a slow down in the economy. The drop in new factory orders was the steepest drop since the 6.3 per cent decline in December, 1974 and probably means a slowdown rather than a steep slump in economic activity. Although the overall indicator declined, 4 of the 10 indicators increased.

Farm exports may reach $24 billion in fiscal 1977 for an increase of over $1 billion from year earlier. Tonnage at 101 MMT will be down from 107 ton in fiscal 1976 — mainly grains. Major contributors to the higher value were higher prices and larger volume for cotton and soybeans. Other contributors to higher value were animal feeds, hides, rice, vegetables and fats and oils.

Farm legislation proposes a "current acreage planted" formula (formerly called allotments). Payments to farmers for set aside for 1978-81 will be based on the producers share of the number of harvested acres needed to meet domestic and export use and to accomplish desired increases or decreases in carryout levels. The law requires announcement of the "acreage planted" on feed grains by November 15.

Grain reserve proposed in farm legislation by Congress. USDA would have the authority to enter into 3-5 year resale programs to establish a farmer held reserve of 300-700 million bushels of wheat. The release point is 175 per cent of the loan. A similar authority is established for feed grains but the size is unspecified. Negotiations on an international grain reserve are encouraged.

Lower feed grain and soybean prices may encourage more livestock and poultry feeding in the 1977-78 market year. Most of the expected increase will be due to lower feed costs rather than higher prices for slaughter animals. Large supplies of feed grains and soybeans are in prospect. The out of storage movement is heavy to provide space for the new crop. Export sales have slowed. The result is weakened corn and soybean prices. The Ohio season average price of soybeans for the crop year ending Sept. 1 was $7.14 with August the low month at $5.24 per bushel. New crop beans may average $4.50 to $5.50 per bushel for the 1976-77 season average price in the U.S.

Oil seed crops around the world will be larger, putting downward pressure on oil prices, especially soybean oil. Principal increases are soybeans (+27 percent) and Canadian rapeseed (+50 percent). Other increases include Malaysian palm oil, world cotton seed, Russian sunflower, and Indian peanut oil. Total oil output may be up 8-10 per cent. Soybeans account for 20 per cent of all oil output and butter, lard and tallow for 10 per cent. Prices of fats and oils change in a fairly close relationship to each other as they are fairly substitutable.

Spring cabbage production in Ohio August 1 was 99,000 hundredweight and up 10 per cent from 1976. Cabbage production in the U.S. at 3.9 million hundredweight may be 9 per cent higher than last year. All spring quarter fresh market vegetables and melons is 3 per cent greater than a year ago. The spring crop was harvested from 6 per cent more acres.

Income from livestock expected to exceed crop sales receipts

WASHINGTON (AP) — For the first time since 1973, farmers' gross income from livestock is expected to exceed what they get from the sales of grain and other crops.

The Agriculture Department estimates that 1977 sales receipts from the marketing of cattle, hogs and other livestock will be $47.3 billion, compared with crop marketings of $46.5 billion.

Crop receipts in 1977, meanwhile, are projected at $46.5 billion, down from $47.9 billion last year.

For three straight years, beginning in 1974, farmers have grossed more from the sale of crops — primarily wheat, corn, soybeans and cotton — than they have from selling livestock, a reversal of the traditional pattern of U.S. agricultural income sources.

But prices of the major commodities have tumbled from the relatively high levels of the last three years. Some livestock prices have improved, but cattle prices still have not worked completely free of the depressed levels which have plagued producers most of the time since 1973.

The estimate for 1977 is included in a new "Agricultural Outlook" report issued this week by USDA's Economic Research Service.

When high prices for grain and some other crops were high in 1974, sales soared to a record value of $51.3 billion from $41.1 billion in 1973. Livestock receipts, meanwhile, dropped to $41.4 billion from a 1973 level of $45.9 billion.

The 1974 turnaround was the first time since 1925 that farm crop sales exceed the value of livestock sold in a year, according to USDA records.

Crop sales outstripped livestock annually from 1910 when USDA began records on farm marketing receipts through 1925.

There are many reasons for the ascendance of livestock, including the shift half a century ago to tractors from horses and mules. This meant farmers had to do something with their grain instead of feeding work animals, so they fed it to more hogs and cattle.

While that is an over-simplification, the change from animal power to machines did help result in surplus grain stockpiles in many years and the surge in livestock production as a way to use excess commodities.

Cash receipts should not be confused with farm income. What farmers get from the sale of livestock and crops is much like the pay check of a factory worker before his deductions are computed.

It is similar with farmers. Gross income, or what they get from producing crops and livestock, is the figure used by USDA before expenses are subtracted.

Net income, or what farmers have left over after paying expenses, has generally declined since soaring to a record $29.9 billion in 1973 from $17.8 billion in 1972.

By last year net farm income dropped to $21.9 billion and in 1977 is expected to drop to around $19.3 billion, the lowest in five years.

Consumer advocate seeks closer ties with farmers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Carol Tucker Foreman says she is still a consumer advocate in her job as assistant secretary of agriculture; but she is also a farmer advocate and thinks the two groups should move much closer together.

She works hard at her job and doesn't mind stepping on some toes if need be. She is a take-charge person who likes her name to be associated with actions taken by the Agriculture Department.

But sometimes Ms. Foreman, as she prefers, takes charge of something important while her boss, Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland, gets the credit in official news releases cranked out by the department's information mill.

For example, on Tuesday Ms. Foreman called a news conference to announce proposed changes in the government's 31-year-old national school lunch program. A major aim is to reduce food waste by serving smaller portions to younger children.

At the news conference, it was clear that Ms. Foreman — accompanied by two officials of USDA's Food and Nutrition Service — was in charge and was the chief spokesman.

"Yes, she said, the school meals need to be improved in addition to cutting back on waste. No, she said, surplus-burdened farmers will not be offended, because they don't like food waste any more than other people.

Meanwhile, USDA information specialists were preparing a news release describing the proposed changes and attributing prepared remarks and the whole thing to Bergland.

Air pollution damage eyed

WOOSTER, Ohio (AP) — Air pollution, generally considered a health hazard to people, has now been linked to disease, damage and destruction of various plant life.

Agricultural researchers have determined that ozone, one of several forms of air pollution, caused severe injury to potatoes.

Now the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center is testing for air pollution damage to trees.

The center and the U.S. Forest Service have joined in a three-year project near Mansfield to determine what effects it has on trees.

J. R. McClenahan, assistant professor of forestry at the center, said scientists will study the response of hardwood seedlings to filtered and unfiltered air near Charles Mill Lake east of Mansfield. Open-topped chambers will be placed over some seedlings to remove pollutants from air reaching young trees. The growth rate of the protected seedlings will be compared with that of seedlings exposed to unfiltered air.

Mature stands of natural hardwoods in the area will also be tested for the effects of air pollution. Small cores will be extracted from the trees.

By counting growth rings and determining heights at different ages, McClenahan hopes to reconstruct the rates of height growth through trees' history.

Miss Linda Waterman guest speaker for combined circles

The combined circles of the Madison Mills United Methodist Church met at the church for the September meeting. Mrs. Raymond Anderson was in charge of the opening. "His Eye is on the Sparrow" was sung by the group, accompanied by Mrs. Paul Huff at the organ.

Mrs. Gary Hidy reported that any donations to be given to Church Women United for disbursement at Christmas time, should be brought to the November circle meetings. There is also a great need for underclothing and blankets for those of low-income families, she said. Canceled postage stamps are now being sent to the Country Life School in Piney Woods, Miss., which are being used to get scholarships for young girls. The South Side Settlement in Columbus is requesting Betty Crocker coupons, also.

Details for a Leadership Training workshop to be held on Nov. 1 and Nov. 3 will be announced later. Plans will be made at the October circle meetings for Nov. 5, at which time Mrs. Thelma Johnson, Christian Personhood chairman of the West Ohio Conference, will be guest speaker at the Madison Mills Church.

Announcement was made of the annual meeting of the Columbus-South District United Methodist Women, to be held Oct. 1 from 10 a. m. until 2:45 p. m. in the Grove City United Methodist Church. Guest speakers will be the Rev. Philip Brooks of Grace Methodist Church and Mrs. Virginia Massey. Music will be provided by the New Life of the Circleville Community Methodist Church. Registration and meal fee of $3.00 should be given or sent to Mrs. Anne Dorn before Sept. 24.

Mrs. Hidy also announced the 1977-78 Prayer Partners Program, sponsored by the UMW, is now in progress. It was reported that the Response and New World Outlook magazine subscriptions renewals are due, and may be given to Mrs. Huff.

A UMW "Cluster" meeting will be held Sept. 19, at 7:30 p. m. in the Staunton Methodist Church. The UMW will again sponsor the annual UNICEF Drive in October.

The evening program was presented by Miss Linda Waterman, presently a fourth grade teacher at Madison Mills School, and who served as a missionary in Zaire, Africa, from 1971 to 1973. Her presentation included slides and commentary which enabled her listeners to become informed as to the people, geographical aspects and culture. The role of the missionary was also depicted through the slides. Several items were on display which revealed the talents of the African people.

The group adjourned to the church annex for a social hour. A floral centerpiece centered the tea table. Mrs. Kenneth Campbell, hostess, was assisted by several members of the Mary Martha Circle.

In October, the MM Circle will meet in the home of Mrs. Jess Schlichter. Mrs. Hidy will be hostess to the Shining Cross Circle.

Members and guests present were Mrs. Forrest Fry, Mrs. John Delay, Mrs. Leland Dorn, Mrs. Ruby Lightle, Mrs. Ethel Wilson, Mrs. Jess Schlichter, Mrs. Frank Barrett, Mrs. Anderson, the Rev. and Mrs. Harold J. Messmer, Mrs. George LeBeau Jr., Mrs. Huff, Mrs. Hidy, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Campbell, Mrs. Dorn, Mrs. Harold King, Mrs. Clarence Bonzo, Mrs. Gordon Payne, Mrs. Tom Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Benner, Kathy and Jodi Hanawalt and Susan and Steve Payne.

Mrs. Hartley CCL hostess, new officers are announced

Members of Alpha Child Conservation League met at the country home of Mrs. Earl Hartley Wednesday evening. Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. William Fletcher, Mrs. Merrill Lynch and Mrs. Harold Foster.

Following roll call, correspondence was read, and various reports presented. The State CCL Convention was announced for Oct. 12 and 13 at the Biltmore Hotel, Dayton. Reservations must be made by Oct. 1, and Lyndon Smith will be the guest speaker. Representing the Alpha league will be Mrs. George Naylor, Mrs. Clark, Mrs. Charles Hurr, Mrs. Russell McCoy and Mrs. Kenneth Warner.

The league voted to help with a Christmas party for students of the Fayette Progressive School, and to be substitute drivers for the Meals on Wheels Program, as needed.

The next meeting will be held at the Windmill Restaurant, Wilmington, at 6:30 p. m. Oct. 5. The executive officers will be hostesses. Speaker for the evening will be the Rev. Phillip Brooks. Reservations may be made with Mrs. Dwight Morner.

Mrs. Frank Dill presented Mrs. Harold Foster, president with the president's pin preceding adjournment.

Mrs. Hartley presented the program, with devotions taken from the Lutheran Digest, and interspersed with recordings and narrations made by the Mormon Tabernacle Choir, and Richard L. Evans. Mrs. Hartley also played several selections on the organ.

Officers for the year are: President- Mrs. Foster; vice president- Mrs. Tracy Hoffman; recording secretary- Mrs. William Clarke; treasurer- Mrs. Fletcher; assistant- Mrs. Morner; corresponding secretary- Mrs. Marcus Crago; and news reporter- Mrs. Homer Chaney.

Those present were Mrs. Fulton Alkire, Mrs. Clarke, Mrs. Chaney, Mrs. McCoy, Mrs. Morner, Mrs. Allen McClung, Mrs. Hurr, Mrs. Robert Climer, Mrs. Robert W. Fries, Mrs. Fletcher, Mrs. Lynch, Mrs. Robert Helfrich, Mrs. Dill, Mrs. Willard Greer, Mrs. Warner, Mrs. Naylor, Mrs. Paul Ream, Mrs. Frank Reno, Mrs. Foster, Mrs. John Murphy, Mrs. Hartley and Mrs. Crago.

Bridge winners are announced

Three guests, Mrs. Fred L. Adler, Russells Point, Ohio, Mrs. C. O. Dewey of Fort Myers, Fla., and Mrs. Loren Hynes of Washington C. H. were present at the weekly bridge-luncheon held at the Washington Country Club Thursday. There were 27 players, and the winners were Mrs. Aulbin Hedges, Mrs. William Limes and Mrs. Howard Wright.

The committee was composed of Mrs. Ronald Cornwell, Mrs. John Sagar Sr. and Mrs. William Wead.

Jeff MYF

The Youth Fellowship of the Jeffersonville United Methodist Church met to elect new officers. Elected were: President- Cindy Sharrett; secretaries- Nancy Spears and Nancy Eltzroth; treasurer- Bonny Bentley; program leaders- Cindy Sams, Penny Straley, Melonie Spears and Lisa Bryson; news reporters- Angela Moore and Charles Morgan; recreation- Randy Fisher, Jeff Cook, Chris Wright, and Casey Vannorsdall; and song leaders- Sandy Sams and David Bryson.

There will be a cabinet meeting of all the officers on Sunday, Sept. 11, at 6:30 p. m. at the church.

Miss Kneisley and Mr. Kelly exchange marriage vows

On the evening of Saturday, August 27, Miss Judy Kay Kneisley approached the candlelight altar of Grace United Methodist Church in Washington C.H. on the arm of her father to become the bride of Kenneth Kelly. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold E. Kneisley, Rt. 5, Washington C.H., and the parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. James L. Kelly, Bloomington.

The Rev. T. Mark Dove performed the double-ring ceremony.

Music preceding the 7:30 p. m. ceremony was presented by organist Jeff Sheridan. Vases of yellow and white gladioli, yellow and white daisies and baby's breath were on the altar, and yellow bows and greenery marked the pews.

The bride's gown was fashioned of white silk organza and Cluny lace, featuring a pinafore style bodice with empire waist and a wedding band neckline. The fitted bishop sleeves ended in a lace ruffled cuff. The A-line skirt was edged with a flounce with double band of lace at the hemline, which flowed in to a chapel-length train. Her headpiece was a tiered shoulder-length chape veil attached to an organza crown with lace and seed pearl trim, and edged in matching Cluny lace. She carried a colonial bouquet of white gladioli, daisies and miniature roses, with streamers of ribbon, and her grandmother's handkerchief.

Miss Nancy Kneisley was maid of honor for her sister. She wore a maize floral halter-style gown of organza, with empire waistline and fingertip-length cape with ruffled edge. Her headpiece was a large silk matching rose. She carried two long-stemmed yellow roses with baby's breath and greenery.

Mrs. Jack Fannin, sister of the bridegroom, was matron of honor. She chose a yellow dotted Swiss dress designed like that of the honor attendant. She, too, carried two yellow long-stemmed roses.

Courtney Hodge performed the duties as best man. Seating the wedding guests were Jack Fannin, David Cook, Robert Langley, and Roger LeBeau, cousin of the bride.

Hostesses for the reception held in Fellowship Hall were Mrs. Roger LeBeau, Mrs. Betsy Hall, Mrs. Sarah Barclay and Mrs. Clara Ellen Pollard, aunt of the groom. The table featured a four-tiered wedding cake topped with a bouquet of yellow and red roses, daisies and greenery, and encircled with daisies. The bouquet was later thrown by the bride. A silver coffee service belonging to the groom's grandmother and sister, and a silver punchbowl completed the setting. Each table for the guests was centered with a milk glass bud vase holding a single yellow rose.

The bride's table was laid in white lace with underlay of light green.

Miss Lisa Hayslip, cousin of the bride, presided at the guest book. The Misses Jacklyn and Jeannine Fannin, nieces of the groom, distributed rice packets from wicker baskets with yellow bows. Franklin Kelly, nephew of the groom, took care of the wedding gifts.

The bride's mother was attired in a Kelly green floor-length knit gown with which she combined white accessories. She wore a corsage of yellow miniature roses and baby's breath. Mrs. Kelly chose a yellow linen dress with matching jacket with accents of orange and green. She, too, wore a corsage of orange can roses and baby's breath.

The grandmothers, Mrs. Martin Pollard and Mrs. Laura Kneisley, wore corsages of white carnations and baby's breath.

Following the wedding trip to Colorado and other western states, the new Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth J. Kelly are residing at Yatesville-Wissler Road, Rt. 1, Bloomington. Mr. Kelly is engaged in farming and his wife is employed by Mid-Ohio Chemical Company Inc., Mount Sterling.

A rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's parents at the country home of the groom's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Marion Pollard, on Friday evening after rehearsal.

Counsel eyes utility refund

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Edison Co.'s approximately 700,000 customers would be in line for a $63.3 million refund if the state's Consumers' Counsel has his way.

Counsel William A. Spratley feels the Akron-based company improperly billed its customers by that amount in imposing a fuel adjustment charge on monthly bills to customers between April 1976 and March 1977.

At issue is a section of state law that allows utilities to pass directly to their customers higher fuel costs. Spratley said the money he feels should be refunded is part of a total $207 million in higher fuel costs charged Edison's residential customers in northeast and north central Ohio.

Spratley maintains that the company included $47 million on customer bills for electricity the company bought at wholesale from other utilities.

"There is nothing (in the law) to specifically suggest that purchased power costs are includable in the fuel adjustment (charges)," the agency's brief claims.

Spratley acknowledged that the PUCO, which examines fuel adjustment charges by utilities at six-month intervals, has allowed purchased electricity to be charged to customers when that electricity is bought wholesale for a cost lower than it could have been produced.

Women voters eye Issue 4

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The League of Women Voters will work to defeat Issue 1, a November ballot proposal which would overturn the state's new election day registration law.

The league at a Friday news conference also said it would support Issue 3 permitting the state to make low-cost loans for middle and low income housing and Issue 4 lifting the $750,000 limit on accumulation of state debt for construction projects.

"We expect to put our full league muscle behind this," said Regina O'Leary, head of the anti-Issue 1 campaign.

Louise Miller, president of the Ohio league, said the housing amendment would permit the issuance of bond with lower interest rates than commercial loans.

Mrs. Miller called the flexible debt limit proposal, Issue 4, "a responsible alternative to a steady stream of ballot bond issues" requiring statewide votes before projects are undertaken.

The league was instrumental in the successful 1975 campaign to defeat Gov. James A. Rhodes' multibillion bond issue package.

Issue 1, a constitutional amendment to require voters to register 30 days before an election and to vote at least once every four years or be dropped from the rolls, is apparently the league priority.

League members want to save a law that ironically will get its first test Nov. 8, when voters will be able to sign up and vote on election day. Registration is permanent under the law, regardless of how often an individual votes.

"Protecting the right of every citizen to vote is a long time concern of the league," said Mrs. Miller. "Fraud has not occurred in the states with election day registration, such as Minnesota and Wisconsin. Increased voter participation has occurred."

No position was taken on Issue 2, banning leghold animal traps.

KIRKPATRICK FUNERAL HOME

Dear friends,

A bereaved person normally feels guilt. Children are very aware of the times that they failed their parents. Parents remember their mistakes with the child. They will talk about arguments — neglect — failures — mistakes. They need to talk about their guilt feelings. Some purging follows confession. The listener need not practice psychiatry; just listen, and not argue with the confessor.

Respectfully,

Richard Kirkpatrick

Dodgers drop Reds

CINCINNATI (AP) — Tommy John and Dusty Baker, who rescued their baseball careers with surgery, did some operating of their own on the ailing Cincinnati Reds Friday night. They left the patient in critical condition.

Supported by Baker's three-run homer, John boosted his career record against Cincinnati to 9-1 with a 4-1 victory that lowered the Los Angeles Dodgers magic number to eight.

John ran his record to 18-5 with a route-going nine-hitter as the Dodgers opened a 13½-game lead over the two-time defending champions.

Fred Norman, 14-11, took the loss and had his five-game winning streak snapped.

Lasorda rates John over Philadelphia's Steve Carlton for the Cy Young Award and sees Baker as the top candidate for National League comeback honors.

"It's what you do to move the club," said Lasorda.

Friday's racing results

Demon Tad wins rich Scioto feature

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Demon Tad, the heavy favorite, posted his third straight victory to win the $103,000 Ohio Sires Stakes championship for 2-year-old trotting colts at Scioto Downs Friday night.

Demon Tad, driven by Don McKirgan for Canadian owners, took the lead before the half-mile pole and trotted the mile in a time of 2:03 2-5 to nip Star Blend by one-half length.

The victory was worth $51,500 for the winner in the richest race ever in the nation for 2-year-old trotters.

Big Sam, a 50-1 longshot, finished third in the 10-horse field.

Opolito Tad led after the first quarter-mile in :29 4-5 before Demon Tad went to the top at the half-mile pole in 1:00 4-5.

Demon Tad, a Lincoln Land Tad colt, continued on top at the three-quarters in 1:31 2-5.

Malpractice finished fourth and then, in order, came Opolito Tad, Lucky Coaltown, Dark Eagle, Stardust Kid, Lollylad and Gay Project.

HAMPSHIRE AND YORKSHIRE HERDBUILDER

PRODUCTION SALE

Saturday Night,
September 17th, 7:00

Fairgrounds, Washington C. H.

SELLING 85 TEST STATION BOARS

125 OPEN GILTS

TROOPER, 1976 Ohio Premier Sire and Res. All American, just recently sold to Japan

This will be our 62nd purebred sale and is one of the nation's largest offerings to sell. Last fall only two public sales of any breed in the United States sold more boars than we did. Eighty-seven boars sold, most of them going to commercial producers.

This sale features full test station results on most all the boars in the offering. Figures will include average daily gain, feed efficiency, days to 230 lbs., and Ohio State University Sonoray data on backfat, loineye and per cent lean cuts. Many of the top pigs are sired by our new herdsire Bronko.

The gilts are big and broody and include some of the best that we have ever offered for sale. Many will be grouped for the commercial buyer.

All boars were raised on concrete until weighing approximately 250 lbs. and then all the older boars have been turned out and pre-conditioned for your use. The boars have been tested for pseudorabies and most of the gilts and we have a validated brucellosis free herd.

SPECIAL BUYERS FEATURES — Buy two boars and be eligible for drawing for registered bred gilt; buy four boars and get 10 per cent discount on each boar; buy 15 gilts or more and receive one free boar.

CALL FOR FACT FILLED CATALOG; SATISFACTION 100 PER CENT GUARANTEED.

Free selection and buying services available, call for more information.

The Body's Own Pain Killer

The value of acupuncture for anesthesia has a new group of supporters. At the University of Toronto, new evidence has been accumulated that acupuncture may stimulate the brain to release a substance called "endorphin."

Very recently, it was found that this substance was more than 200 times more potent than morphine. Dr. Bruce Pomeranz, of the University of Toronto, is pursuing this concept in an effort to learn more about the value of acupuncture as an anesthetic.

A new artificial lung has recently been used at the University of Wisconsin-Madison Center for Health Sciences. With this device, a patient's blood can be freed from carbon dioxide, the waste-product gas normally eliminated by the lungs.

Oxygen, then, is replaced so that the body can function almost normally, even in the presence of severe lung disease.

A release from the university points out that the artificial lung may eventually prove to be exceedingly beneficial for patients with pneumonia, blood poisoning and, perhaps, even in cases of emphysema.

Hyperbaric oxygen chambers are now being used in the treatment of severe infections of the bone. Dr. Elmer L. Bingham and Dr. George B. Hart, both naval captains, have treated 70 cases of osteomyelitis (bone infections) with remarkable results.

The work is being carried on at the Naval Regional Medical Center in Long Beach, Calif. This new technique, in addition to the use of antibiotics and surgical care, has expanded the rate of successful cures.

It is astonishing how much important research is carried on during peace time by the medical departments of the Navy, Army and Air Force.

Ultrasonic vibrations are being tried in many phases of medicine. Beaming ultrasound and measuring it as it bounces off body tissue is known as an "echogram."

Dr. Francis Adams, at the Veterans Administration Hospital in New York City, has been using this technique to detect fluid in the lung and chest. It has been of great value in patients where both the physical diagnosis and the X-rays fail to localize a collection of fluid.

Dr. Adams foresees more extensive use of ultrasound in problems that involve the kidneys and the pancreas.

Temperatures drop steadily

By The Associated Press
Temperatures in much of the upper Midwest dropped steadily overnight under partly cloudy skies. By early today, the cool air reached from the northern Rockies through the upper Great Lakes, with the coldest temperatures in Wyoming and western Montana.

Thunderstorms marked the eastern edge of the cool air. The storms extended from northern Arkansas, southwest Missouri and western Tennessee across western and central Ohio to the lower Great Lakes basin.

Showers and occasional thunderstorms were scattered through the Gulf and Atlantic coast states. Other showers and storms were widely scattered from the central and southern Rockies into the southwest as far south as eastern California.

Patches of fog and low clouds are scattered along the Pacific coast early today. Otherwise, skies are clear over the Pacific coast and mountain region.

Reagan returns to Kansas City

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Ronald Reagan has returned to this city where he lost the Republican presidential contest last summer to fight a new political campaign.

Addressing more than 1,000 Republicans at a $60-a-plate fundraiser Friday, the former California governor continued his attack on the Panama Canal treaties. He said the United States should not be "meekly yielding its legitimate rights and responsibilities to avoid unpleasantness."

It was Reagan's first visit here since he lost last summer to then-President Gerald Ford, a supporter of the treaties.

Colonies mark silver jubilee

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — Queen Elizabeth's 25th anniversary on the throne — already marked in the British Isles — is being celebrated in "the colonies" as well.

Elizabeth Taylor and her husband, former Navy Secretary John Warner, will be joining Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., and other celebrities at a party here tonight.

The $75-a-person, four-course dinner to honor the 25th anniversary of the queen's coronation will be held at Beechwood, the former home of Mrs. William Astor.

Opening lead - king of hearts.

One frequent form of defense against a suit contract consists of trying to run declarer out of trumps by forcing him to ruff. This method of defense is successful most often when declarer and dummy together have eight trumps and the defenders' trumps are divided 4-1 rather than 3-2.

Consider this deal where West led a heart against six spades. Declarer ruffed and played the A-K of trumps, learning of the 4-1 division. When he then led the ace and another club towards the king, East very wisely discarded a diamond. Had East ruffed, declarer would have made the slam.

South took the king and played a low club, ruffing it with dummy's nine as East once again discarded a diamond! Now South could not come to his hand without reducing himself to one trump — East still had two trumps — and he finished down two.

Declarer lost the slam because he lost control of trumps. He should have realized — when he ruffed the opening lead — that the only real danger was that the spades and clubs might each be divided 4-1, and that he should attempt to protect against this possibility.

After ruffing the heart lead, he should have played a trump to the king, followed by the A-5 of clubs. If East discarded, South would win with the king of clubs and then ruff a club in dummy. It now would not matter whether East overruffed or not. Either way, South makes the slam.

If East overruffs, South draws trumps and easily makes the rest. If East discards instead, South still has a spade in dummy and would next play the A-Q of trumps followed by his good clubs. East would sooner or later score a trump trick — but no more.

THE BETTER HALF. By Barnes

UNUSUAL SETTING — The courtyard of the Calmar Division plant in the Washington C.H. Industrial Park was the setting for a wedding ceremony Friday evening. Jenny Lee, 42, of 498 Staunton-Jasper Road, and Thomas L. Smith, 44, exchanged vows in the ceremony. The new Mrs. Smith is a clerk-typist at the plant and her husband is a fuel inspector in Wilmington. A reception was held in the plant's conference room following the candlelight ceremony.

Illegal CB use crackdown set

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission is cracking down on CB operators who illegally use frequencies not assigned for Citizens Band radio use.

Hardly a week has gone by recently that the FCC has not announced yet another raid on so-called "out-of-band," or high-frequency operators.

Penalties include hefty fines, suspended prison sentences, revocation of licenses and confiscation of costly radio equipment.

Out-of-band CB operators usually use modified CB and amateur, or "Ham," equipment to transmit on frequencies other than the 40 allocated for CB use.

The unauthorized frequencies often are assigned to business, industry and government use. Most illegal CB activity is found above 27.405 megahertz — CB channel 40.

Out-of-band operators often combine their equipment with illegal linear amplifiers that boost their transmitting power from the 4-watt CB limit to as many as several thousand.

Their operations thus interfere not only with local transmissions of those authorized to use the frequencies, but with legal transmissions hundreds and thousands of miles away.

"The FCC's most basic function is the allocation of the frequency bands," says Deputy Chief Richard M. Smith of the FCC Field Operations Bureau's enforcement division.

"This was the purpose for the creation of the FCC — to make order out of the chaos that developed in the early days of radio, when there was no regulation and when various stations attempted to use the same frequencies."

"To permit CBers to use unauthorized frequencies would totally disrupt radio communications," Smith adds. "If it continued, it would not be long before other groups (legally operating on the frequencies) would feel forced to operate illegally in other spectrums to get away from the chaos."

"We'd have a domino effect," he says.

Smith says the out-of-band CB practice has increased over the last two years, but not in proportion to the rapid growth of CB during the same period. He says the practice exists in all areas, but is predominant in those regions where CB use is most prevalent such as the East and West coasts and Texas which, he says, has more licensed CB operators than any other state.

"These out-of-band and overpowered stations generate the most complaints," Smith says.

"There's a very concerted effort to curb these operations and you'll see more enforcement crackdowns in the near future," he adds.

"We're working with U.S. attorneys' offices, with U.S. marshals and we're prosecuting these operators in federal court."

Mostly sunny skies will prevail throughout Ohio today and again Sunday. Skies will be clear tonight, though temperatures will be cooler than normal.

Highs both today and Sunday will be in the 70s. The lows tonight will be in the mid 40s to lower 50s, and perhaps a little cooler Sunday night.

A high pressure system moving from the west toward Ohio is the reason for the optimistic forecast. The high will reach Ohio on Sunday.

Offsides parade committee set

Vernon Stanforth, administrator of the Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA) program in Washington C.H., has been appointed to serve as chairman of the parade committee for the Community Education program's annual Offsides program.

The parade will proceed through the downtown business district prior to the annual Offsides benefit football game at Gardner Park Stadium Oct. 1.

Jeff Downs, a loan officer at the Huntington Bank of Washington C.H., has been appointed to serve as assistant chairman of the parade committee. Richard Kimmel of Washington C.H. is also a member of the parade committee.

Stanforth is also in charge of the Queen of Queens contest for the annual Community Education activities.

Persons or organizations interested in participating in the pre-game parade or the Queen of Queens contest should call Stanforth at 335-7993 or 335-5720.

"The parade will be a big part of the Offsides Day activities," said Tony Pack, director of the Community Education program. "Floats, vehicles, banners, organizations and other participants are welcome as Vernon and Jeff want to make this a big event," he said.

Insurance policy woes hit sheriff

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — Butler County sheriff's cars could be forced off the road next week if county commissioners can't find a way to insure them.

Commissioners are trying to get insurance on the county's 148-car fleet from area insurance agencies, or from a new auto insurance plan being offered through the state insurance commission covering county vehicles when private insurance is unattainable.

Self-insurance by a special county fund also is being considered.

Commissioners rejected a quotation from a Cleveland firm because it was nearly four times the amount the county paid for insurance coverage this year.

Eleven insurance agencies have refused to bid on the county fleet.

Sheriff Robert Walton said he has initiated new procedures in an attempt to cut down the number of accidents in his department.
